

Privacy Policy

Jackson O'Connor Architecture Limited does not have a mailing list and do not send out newsletters.

Jackson O'Connor Architecture Limited does hold contact data and project specific information: primarily for clients, consultants and suppliers. This information is used to aid and support project communication and design.

Project information is stored on a secure private server. This is then archived on completion of a defects liability period or within 2 years of the appointment.

You are very welcome to contact us to remove or amend this information from our records at any time. Please go to the contact page of this website to do so.

Jackson O'Connor Architecture Limited does not disclose your data to other parties without your express permission. Information is not shared outside of the UK.

This website doesn't store any information from its visitors, and the only reason it leaves cookies (small text files) on your computer is because it has been created using WordPress. You are welcome to adjust the settings in your browser to disable cookies, and it will not affect your ability to use this site.

Jackson O'Connor Architecture Limited is registered with the Information Commissioner's Office (Registration no. CSN8961561). As far as the GDPR compliance and data protection of your own businesses is concerned, Jackson O'Connor Architecture Limited holds no responsibility.

Jackson O'Connor Architecture Limited

July 2019

Your data protection rights

Tell people about their data protection rights. Their rights will differ depending on your lawful basis for processing, so once you know this then you can select the relevant sections from the text in the template below to include in your Privacy Notice. The lawful basis page of our Guide to the GDPR has a useful table that shows the varying rights that apply (and don't apply) depending on the lawful basis.

How to complain

Tell people how to make a complaint to you here. Include the ICO's address.